

DECISIVE MOMENTS

Head of Piramal Gallery, Mukesh Parpiani, looks back on some of the finest exhibitions organised between 2010 and 2020 at the NCPA.

When I joined the NCPA in June 2009 as full-time head of the Centre for Photography as an Art Form, Piramal Gallery, I took it up as an assignment different from my earlier job as a photojournalist. The gallery—and the NCPA—were not new to me. I had covered the inauguration of the Tata Theatre by Indira Gandhi in 1982 and prior to joining the organisation, had already exhibited my work thrice at the gallery since its inception in 1987.

In my twelve years at the gallery and until March 2020, when the lockdown was imposed, nearly 200 exhibitions, talks and workshops have been organised. Besides continuing with the tradition of solo photo exhibitions, I have invited photographic institutions like Rachana Sansad, National Institute of Photography, Photo Division of the Government of India and Symbiosis School of Photography to showcase their collections in the Piramal Gallery.

Published photographs in reputed magazines like Better Photography, Smart Photography, Sanctuary Asia and Asian Photography have adorned the walls of the gallery from time to time. This attracted many consulates in Mumbai to showcase the culture of their respective countries through photo exhibitions.

In the 33-year-old history of the gallery, hundreds of photographers have displayed their work here and thousands of art-loving people, including stalwarts of photography from across the country, have regularly visited it. It is to the NCPA's credit that the city has a wonderful place that celebrates photography as an art form.

Through these pages of ON Stage, let me take you on a visual tour of some of the finest exhibitions that have taken place between 2010 and 2020. In this difficult time when photojournalists are risking their lives to document the crisis, I dedicate this feature to them.
